Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. §121:

1) Claims 1-25, drawn to a single pharmaceutical composition in which the anticholinergic and the TACE inhibitor are both present.

2) Claims 1-25, drawn to two separate formulations, one of which contains an anticholinergic compound and the other of which contains a TACE inhibitor.

3) Claim 26, drawn to a use of a capsule.

4) Claim 27, drawn to a use of an inhalable solution

5) Claim 28, drawn to a use of a composition.

The claimed inventions are distinct.

The claimed inventions are distinct. As made clear by claim 12, applicants intend for the term "pharmaceutical composition" (in the singular) to encompass two separate, independent and distinct formulations. The merits of applicants use of language can be debated later, but at the present time, it is assumed that applicants are equating the singular of a physical entity with the plural of that physical entity, at least insofar as pharmaceutical compositions are concerned. Clearly, Groups 1 and 2 are distinct. If one takes two compounds, both of which have been previously disclosed, and combines them into a single formulation, that single formulation can, in some circumstances, be justifiably characterized as novel, at least insofar as patentability is concerned. But if one has two separate vials, each of which contains a known compound, it is difficult to see by what reasoning or statute those two vials could define a novel invention. While the question of novelty is unlikely to be resolved prior to the first Office action on the merits, applicants can (hopefully) at least appreciate the distinction, for patentability purposes, between (a) a single composition that contains two drugs, and (b) two separate compositions, each of which contains one drug.

Inventions 3-5 are drawn to a "use", which is not a proper statutory class. In the event that claims 26-28 are amended to recite a specific method of use in response to this Office action, further analysis may be provided.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is reminded that upon cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a diligently filed petition under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(h).

In addition to the foregoing, applicants are required under 35 U.S.C. §121 to elect disclosed species (as follows) for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable.

In the event that Group 1 or Group 2 is chosen for initial examination, election is required of a specific and fully defined anticholinergic, and a specific and fully defined TACE inhibitor.

Applicant is advised that a response to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a generic claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are witten in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentable distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. ∋103 of the other invention.
